Welcome to Online Orientation!
What to Do 1

• Online Orientation consists of self-directed information that will help you learn about the academic opportunities, campus resources, and important student life topics, along with preparing you to meet with an academic advisor at UConn.

• You must view all the videos at the top of the page along with the Documents and Links sections at the bottom of the page in order to complete the online module.

• The online system will track your moves, and let UConn know when you have completed the module. An email will be sent notifying you that online Orientation has been completed.
What to Do 2

- This module is available “on demand” which means once you have access to it you can stop and return at a later time.

- You are responsible to review all the content in the online Orientation module.

- It would be to your advantage to take notes especially from the section on “Pre-Advising” since this information will be important when you meet online with an advisor to register for classes. All the information in the pre-advising section was written by the advisors in your school or college at the university.
What to Do 3

• You can return to the online Orientation module after you complete it to review any information that you need to.

• We hope you refer to the information in the online Orientation module throughout the summer to prepare for the start of classes at UConn.

• Thank you for your attention. You can begin online Orientation NOW!
